

What each book would lose if one kind of reference were struck out

Percent of a book's coded verses that would stop being coded if the named category were removed from the lexicon, discourse inference held fixed — and, in the last bar of each panel, if all discourse inference were removed instead. Shares exceed 100% because verses carry several grounds.

