

What the frame rule is worth

A counterfactual stress test, not a better estimate: percent of text units coded under three rules for which vocabulary counts as Christological. 'No frames' admits every title in every corpus; 'name only' admits nothing but his name. The published rule sits between them and is the only one that survives contact with the Guru Granth Sahib.

Each point is a full re-run of the classifier. Table: output/analysis/F2_tab_frame_sweep.csv